Calvin R. Griffith, Twins' President

The capturing of the Sporting News' coveted Major League Executive of the Year Award for 1965 capped the most significant and rewarding year yet in the life of the president of the Minnesota Twins, Calvin R. Griffith.

This singular, most prized honor in the baseball world was accorded to Mr. Griffith in large measure because of the unwavering faith he maintained in the personnel wearing the uniform of the Twins . . . a faith which resulted in the first American League pennant ever to grace the Upper Midwest.

Mr. Griffith stood firm in this conviction all during 1964, even though the Twins that season came home sixth in league standings. In spite of that finish, he and manager Sam Mele felt that this team was capable of competing with any in baseball. They did, however, feel that a revamping of the coaching staff might be the spark needed to put the club on the victory trail. So, Jim Leman, Billy Martin and Johnny Sain were brought in to work with Mele and holdover coach Hal Naragon in 1965.

During spring training, however, the Twins appeared to be the same second-division aggregation they'd been the previous season, winning only 11 of 20 exhibition games.

Still, Mr. Griffith held fast in his belief in the club he'd assembled since assuming the presidency of the organization ten years earlier. It wasn't long until his faith began to receive its reward. The Twins started themselves early in the regular-season campaign, winning 5 of their first 6 decisions and quickly vaulting into first place. So dominant was their position in the race that they led the circuit on all but 40 days of the playing season. From the Fourth of July on, they were never headed, finally winding up with a Tugans bulge over the field.

Although the magnificent pitching of one Sandy Koufax in the seventh game of the World Series prevented the Twins from reaching baseball's highest pinnacle, the patience and trust of Mr. Griffith was amply rewarded. Here was the fruition of a dream which had its beginnings many years before.

Born Calvin Robertson in Montreal, Quebec, Canada, he was adopted and brought to Washington by his uncle, Hall of Famer Clark C. Griffith, one of the great old-time pitchers, co-founder of the American League, and owner of the then-Washington franchise.

Calvin began in baseball as mascot of the pennant-winning Washington teams of 1924 and 1925, and, along the way, was educated at Staunton Military Academy, in Virginia, and George Washington University in the Capital City.

In 1935, Uncle Clark assigned Calvin to a three-year hitch as treasurer and president of the Senators' Chantanooga farm team. From 1938 through 1941, he held the same two posts at Charlotte.

He married Natalie Nixon of Charlotte and they have a son, Clark II, and two daughters, Corinne and Clara.

In 1942, Calvin was recalled to Washington to serve as his Uncle Clark's chief lieutenant. He began by operating the club's concessions department at Griffith Stadium. He had whiffs as traveling secretary and in public relations. Then, he was permitted to negotiate the Senators' radio and television contracts. Later he was given authority to negotiate player trades.

On October 27, 1955, Clark Griffith passed away, and Calvin was elected president of the Senators five days later.

One day short of five years later, he received permission from his fellow American League owners to transfer his operations to the Twin Cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, from which base his team would serve the entire Upper Midwest as the Minnesota Twins. His move was prompted out of faith . . . faith that a new horizon would provide the potential for an improved representative on the field, and faith in his own ability and leadership to convert that potential into an American League championship.

Manager

MELE, Sabath Anthony

"Sam"

Born January 21, 1922, in Astoria, Long Island, New York. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Quincy, Massachusetts.

Although he went into the 1965 season with one of the finest winning records of any manager in the major leagues, Sam Mele really came into his own during the course of the pennant-winning campaign and established himself as one of the truly outstanding field generals in the game today.

His astute leadership was widely recognized at season's end, not only by the fact that he'd led his team into the World Series, but also by virtue of his having been named American League Manager of the Year by the two major wire services, and major league Manager of the Year by baseball's weekly publication, The Sporting News.

Armed with a virtually-new coaching staff at season's start, Mele spurred his team to a new 'go-go' style of play that resulted in a team-record 142 victories, and the first American League pennant ever to fly over Metropolitan Stadium.

All of which points up the 'winning' nature of Sam's four-and-one-half-year career as a manager, a tenure which produced a second and a third-place finisher prior to 1965's American League championship. The Mele ledger since he assumed the managerial reins from Cookie Lavagetto on June 23, 1961, reads 408 victories against 333 defeats, a .551-percentage which trails only Herman Franks (.586), Walter Alston (.571), Alvin Dark (.569) and Leo Durocher (.560) among active major league skippers.

A fine player in the majors for ten years, Sam played the outfield and first base equally well, had a strong arm and hit with occasional power.

Mele comes from quite an athletic family. In fact, his uncle is Tony Cuccinello, long-time major league infielder and coach.

Sam and Connie, his wife of 17 years, found 1965 to be a year of beautiful blessings in all respects, with the thrill of World Series participation overshadowed only by the October 18 birth of the couple's fifth child and second son, Scott Arthur.

LEMON, James Robert

"Lem"

Born March 23, 1928, in Covington, Virginia. Height: 6 ft., 6 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Batted and threw right-handed. Married. Lives in Hyattsville, Maryland.

A top slugger as a major league outfielder for the better part of thirteen years, Jim Lemon lent a valued contribution to the pennant-craze of the 1965 Minnesota Twins, not only from his gametime assignment in the first base coach's box, but also from his pre-and-post-game functions as team batting coach. Jim's biggest moments as a major league player came on September 3, 1958, when he homered twice in one inning against Boston, driving in six runs to tie a major league record also shared by Twins' manager Sam Rice, and August 31, 1955, when he walloped three homers off Whitey Ford with President Eisenhower watching from the box seats. The tall Virginian was one of the most highly-respected players in the game during his active career, and has carried that same esteem over into the coaching ranks.

MARTIN, Alfred Manuel

"Billy"

Born May 16, 1928, in Berkeley, California. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Batted and threw right-handed. Married. Lives in Richfield, Minnesota.

The fiery determination that was typical of his play as a major league player was carried over by Billy Martin into his work as a Twins' coach in 1965. The fact that the Twins became a 'go-go' outfit last season was largely due to the urging of the irrepressible Martin, whose battling nature sparked the New York Yankees to an unprecedented run of pennants in the early 1950's. Billy is particularly well-suited for his duties as Twins' third base coach, his aggressive spurring causing many a Twin baserunner to register a score that might otherwise have been left stranded at third base. As a player, he holds the World Series record for most hits in a 6-game Series, 12 for the 1953 Yankees. Billy makes his home in the Twin Cities, where he's employed during the off-season as a field representative for the Minneapolis Brewing Co.

NARAGON, Harold Richard

"Hal"

Born October 1, 1928, in Zanesville, Ohio. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Batted left, threw right. Married. Lives in Barberton, Ohio.

Embarking on his fourth season as a Twins' coach, Hal Naragon wound up his active playing career as a Twins' catcher in 1962, after a 16-year major league career. A thoroughly qualified lieutenant, Hal served as interim manager for the club last season during Sam Mele's 5-day suspension for a run-in with an umpire. Naragon also subbed for Mele for a couple of games at the conclusion of the 1964 season, when the graying skipper chose to get a season-ending line on his athletes from the vantage point of the pressbox. Considered the best-dressed of the Twins off the field, Naragon is also the top golfer among the uniformed members of the club.

SAIN, John Franklin

"Johnny"

Born September 25, 1918, in Havana, Arkansas. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 194 lbs. Batted and threw righthanded. Married. Lives in Walnut Ridge, Arkansas.

"Spahn and Sain, and a day of rain," is a phrase made famous during the pennant-winning season of the 1948 Boston Braves, when Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn provided the bulk of the mound success for the senior circuit winners. And, in 1955, Sain proved himself to be just as indispensable as he named Twins' pitchers in the act of winning a pennant. His low-pressure but firm approach with the talent on the Twins' staff brought out the best in them, with the result that most of the Twins' hurlers enjoyed the finest seasons of their careers. John's work was especially noticeable in the improvement of veterans Jim Grant, Jim Perry and Johnny Kilgus. A 29-game winner four times during his native major league career, Sain learned his trade the hard way, spending four seasons in Class D baseball before beginning his climb toward the big show. Unquestionably this long apprenticeship helped lay the groundwork for his present generally-accepted position as the top pitching coach in baseball.

ALLEN, Bernard Keith "Bernie" Second Baseman

Born April 18, 1939, in East Liverpool, Ohio. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 186 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Minnetonka Village, Minnesota.

His ailing left knee seemingly good as new once again, Bernie Allen confidently expects to resume his position in the 'Twins' regular lineup during 1966. He injured the knee in a second-base collision with Washington's Don Zimmer on June 13, 1964. After an operation that fall, the knee was slow in returning to top condition, resulting in Bernie's spending a good part of the 1965 campaign with the Twins' top farm club at Denver, in the Pacific Coast League. Looking to the future, the former Purdue all-round athletic star has joined with teammate Rich Hollins in co-ownership of a highly successful off-season venture in the Twin Cities, the Napoleon Hill Academies.

ALLISON, William Robert "Bob" Outfielder

Born July 11, 1934, in Raytown, Missouri. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 220 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Edina, Minnesota.

The pain of what might otherwise have been a disappointing season for him was erased for Bob Allison by the Twins' winning of the 1965 American League pennant and by his brilliant performance throughout the World Series. His unbelievable catch of Jim Lefebvre's line-drive in the fifth inning of the second Series game has already been listed among the top defensive plays in the history of the game. The American League's Rookie of the Year in 1960, Bob is a 'representative' athlete . . . serving as American League Player Representative during the season, and as a sales representative for the Twin Cities Coca-Cola Bottlers during the off-season.

Smoky

Catcher

Born January 5, 1936, in Los Angeles, California. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 225 lbs. Bats and throws right-handed. Married. Lives in St. Paul, Minnesota.

The top vote-getter on the American League All-Star squad last summer, Earl Battey's fine play throughout the season was a prime factor in the Minnesota Twins' winning of the American League pennant. He just missed compiling a .300-batting average for the second time in his major league career, remaining above the magic figure until the closing days of the season. Earl winters in the Twin Cities as a public relations representative of General Mills, Inc.

BOSWELL, David Wilson

"Bos"

Pitcher

Born January 20, 1945, in Baltimore, Maryland. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Baltimore.

An attack of mononucleosis, which sidelined him from July 10 until August 17, prevented Dave Boswell from compiling possibly the most impressive record of any rookie pitcher in the majors during 1965. Dave had just reached top form when illness struck. In fact, on July 9, he downed the New York Yankees in his first complete game in the major leagues. Upon his return, however, the Twins' pitching rotation for the pennant drive was set, and Bos received just one more start during the balance of the season. Married to the former Eleanor Mary Smith immediately following the World Series, Dave is certain to make a strong bid for a starting berth on the 1966 Twins' staff.

CAREW, Rodney Cline "Rod" Second Baseman

Born October 1, 1945, in Gatun, Panama Canal Zone. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Single. Lives in Brooklyn, New York.

Noosed out for the Florida State League batting title by two percentage points in 1965, although he set the pace virtually the entire season. Panamanian Rod Carew owns the distinction of having finished second in his league's batting race in each of his two seasons of professional baseball. A fine defensive player as well, Rod has a sure-fire major league future. He spent the past off-season in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Born October 17, 1942, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 203 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bristol, Pennsylvania.

Considered just about the top relief pitcher in the Pacific Coast League last season, Pete Cimino was decidedly impressive in his one-inning major league stint against Baltimore last September 22, setting down Orioles Paul Blair, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson in routine, one-two-three fashion. Following a season in the Puerto Rican Winter League with the Ponce club, Pete appears ready to make a determined bid for a permanent position with the Twins' bullpen crew.

FOSNOW, Gerald Eugene "Jerry" Pitcher

Born September 21, 1940, in Deshler, Ohio. Height: 5 ft., 4 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Deshler.

The winning pitcher for the Twins against the New York Yankees last Opening Day, Jerry Fosnow has the equipment to become a really outstanding major league hurler. A side-wheeling southpaw, the slender Ohioan's strikeout ratio has been particularly outstanding throughout his professional career.

GRANT, James Timothy "Mudcat" Pitcher

Born August 13, 1935, in Lacombe, Florida. Height: 5 ft. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Shaker Heights, Ohio.

The American League's Pitcher of the Year in 1966, Mudcat Grant took the baseball world by storm as he paced the circuit in victories and shutouts, and then racked up two brilliant triumphs in the World Series against the Los Angeles Dodgers. Grant topped his sixth-game Series win with a long, 3-run homerun in the sixth inning, tying him with Jim Bagby, Sr., who hit a round-tripper in the fifth game of the 1920 Series for Cleveland, as the only American League hurlers ever to hit World Series homeruns. A consistent winner throughout the season, he never lost more than one game in succession. Jim's top performance was the brilliant, 1-hit shutout he tossed at Washington on September 25, for his twentieth victory and sixth whitewashing. Only Don Blasingame's third-inning double kept Mud from the Hall of Fame. 1965 was a special year as far as Grant was concerned for another reason, also, it marking his first appearance in a major league All-Star Game. His first 1966 victory will be the 100th of his big league career. A show business performer in the off-season, Grant hit it big with his "Mudcat & the Kittens" not last winter, being featured in some of the top night spots around the nation, and making several appearances on nationally-televized variety shows.

HALL, Jimmie RandolphOutfielder

Born March 17, 1938, in Mount Holly, North Carolina. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Mount Holly.

A solid major league hitter, Jimmie Hall enjoyed his best season yet in the American League during 1965, as he kept his batting average over the .300-mark until August 21, before winding up the campaign at .285. His RBI-total was second on the club only to Tony Oliva, and his batting average represented the best figure of his three major league seasons, as did his total of 14 stolen bases. In 1963, as a rookie, Jimmie established an American League homerun record for a first-year player, with 33, breaking the standard previously held by Hall of Famer Ted Williams.

JENKINS, James Clyde"Jim"*Shortstop

Born December 25, 1943, in Mason City, Iowa. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Long Beach, California.

An outstanding prospect who was drafted by the Twins after a season in the Los Angeles Dodgers' chain, Jim Jenkins is the aggressive type of 'take charge' ball-player, an attribute of special importance for a shortstop. Off seasons, Jim has been a student at both Long Beach City College and the University of Southern California.

KAAT, James Lee"Kitty"*Pitcher

Born November 7, 1939, in Zeeland, Michigan. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 227 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Minnetonka Village, Minnesota.

A durable competitor, Jim Kaat's willingness to work was a big factor in the success of the 1965 Minnesota Twins. The massive lefthander paced the American League in starting assignments with 42, tying the all-time Griffith club record in this respect, a mark originally set way back in 1910 by the immortal Walter Johnson. Along the way, he compiled the top winning percentage and earned-run average of his career, while equalling his best previous major league win-total. On September 26, the Dutchman from Zeeland, Michigan, stole the nation's sports spotlight as he hurled brilliant ball in the Twins' pennant-clinching win over the Washington Senators. And, just a couple of weeks later, he reached the heights again as he scored a 5-1, second-game World Series win over the fabled Sandy Koufax. For the fourth straight season, American League players voted Jim the outstanding defensive pitcher in the circuit, for which he received the Rawlings-Sporting News' Gold Glove Award. During the off-season, Kant engages in a number of activities, primary among them being his work as a radio sportscaster and his role of public relations representative for Cloverleaf Creameries, Inc., Twin Cities.

KILLEBREW, Harmon Clayton, Jr. 'Harm' Infielder
Born June 29, 1936, in Payette, Idaho. Height: 5 ft., 11 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Ontario, Oregon.

Only a dislocated left elbow, suffered in a first base collision with Baltimore's Buz Snyder on August 2, and which forced him to miss seven weeks of the playing season, prevented Harmon Killebrew from joining the coveted $64-Homerun Club in 1965. The injury also kept the Twins' slugger from continuing his streak of 46-plus homer seasons. Nonetheless, there was no disappointment on the part of the Idaho strongboy, the joy of his contribution to the Twins' pennant victory . . . at first base, third base and at the bat . . . far overshadowing any satisfaction that might have been gained from an individual accomplishment. During 1965, Harmon moved ahead of such greats as Rudy York, Ted Kluszewski, Frank Thomas, Hank Sauer, Bob Johnson and Del Ennis in the all-time homer derby and, with 297, is now virtually certain to become the 36th player in the long history of the majors to belt at least 300 career homers. He is also just two shy of reaching the 1000-mark in lifetime base hits.

KLIPPSTEIN, John Calvin "Klip" Pitcher

Born October 17, 1927, in Washington, D. C. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats and throws right-handed. Married. Lives in Chicago, Illinois.

When Johnny Klippstein came up to the major leagues for the first time with the Chicago Cubs in 1950, he came to stay. And stay he did, with sixteen full seasons now under his belt, and no let-up in sight. In fact, the sixteenth season was probably the Klipper's best, as he appeared in 56 games, just one shy of his best previous total, while compiling magnificent won-lost and ERA percentages. John lost his third, and last, decision on May 31, and after that proceeded to rack up eight straight victories, tying Camilo Pascual's Minnesota club record for consecutive wins. His last verdict, on September 18, over Washington, marked the 100th triumph of his major league career.

KINDALL, Gerald Donald "Jerry" Second Baseman

Born May 27, 1935, in St. Paul, Minnesota. Height: 8 ft., 3 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in St. Anthony Village, Minnesota.

One of the greatest glove men in the game, Jerry Kindall's smooth defensive work at second base was one of the big factors in the Twins' quick jump to the fore in the early stages of the 1965 American League race, a position from which they were never to be headed as the pennant scramble moved past the traditional Fourth of July milestone. Equally outstanding at either shortstop or second base, Jerry's springboard to major league fame was the All-American recognition he received while sparking the University of Minnesota baseballers to the NCAA championship in 1956. Jerry maintains his ties with his alma mater by serving as freshman basketball coach for the Gophers during the winter months.

KOSCO, Andrew John "Andy" Outfielder

Born October 5, 1941, in Youngstown, Ohio. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Struthers, Ohio.

Andy Kosco looked to the future with mixed emotions in June of 1964, when he was released by the Detroit Tigers' organization. But now, less than two years later, Andy's future is indeed a bright one. Vaulting from his 'Triple Crown' in the Northern League in 1964, to Denver of the Pacific Coast League in '65, Andy never took his foot off the gas as he pounded Coast League pitching from Indianapolis to Hawaii and became the most feared hitter in the circuit. His league-leading, 126-rbi total was, in fact, the top figure in all of Organized Baseball at the time of his callup by the parent Twins on August 18.

MERRITT, James Joseph "Jim" Pitcher

Born December 9, 1943, in Altadena, California. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in West Covina, California.

A July 30, 1965, arrival on the major league scene, Jim Merritt has already proved conclusively that he is a pitcher who "belongs" in the big show. Heady beyond his years and possessor of a great assortment of "stuff," Merritt pitched outstanding ball as a starter in place of the ailing Dave Sewell until a positively brilliant relief job in which he fanned eight of the nine men he faced against Boston on September 30 . . . his first rescue job in the majors . . . indicated to manager Sam Mele that he might be even more valuable to the Twins as a reliever. Thereafter, his remaining six regular-season appearances, plus two in the World Series, were all in relief.

MINCHER, Donald Ray "Minch" First Baseman

Born June 24, 1938, in Huntsville, Alabama. Height: 5 ft., 3 in. Weight: 213 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in Meridianville, Alabama.

It took an injury to Harmon Killebrew to afford him his first real opportunity as a major-league regular, but Don Mincher wasted little time in proving his worth, once the first base position was handed to him. So effective was the work of the big Alabamian that the Twins' drive toward the American League pennant picked up steam, in spite of the absence of Killebrew. Always a top hitter, Don has come a long way as a defensive player, to the point where manager Sam Mele has already gone on record in his appraisal of Minch as the man to beat for the Twins' first base job in '56.

MITTERWALD, George Eugene Catcher

Born June 7, 1945, in Berkeley, California. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Hayward, California.

Signed by scout Dick Hager out of Chabot Junior College in California last April, George Mitterwald started slowly in the Northern League last season but came strong down the stretch, until by season's end he "had 'em talking," in the words of his St. Cloud manager, Jim Rantz. Last fall he kept up the pace as one of the outstanding hitters in the tough Peninsula League, a semi-pro circuit in the San Francisco Bay area.

The runaway leader in victories and strikeouts in the Midwest League last season, Danny Morris is expected to make a strong bid for a berth on the Twins' pitching staff.

staff in 1966. Only 19 years old, the raw-boned Kenuckian possesses an outstanding fastball, as evidenced by his ratio of eleven strikeouts per nine-inning game at Wisconsin Rapids last season, as he fashioned an all-time Midwest League strikeout record.

Born May 30, 1936, in San Diego, California. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in San Bernardino, California.

Mel worked closely with Twins' pitching coach Johnny Sain both last season and in the Florida Instructional League in the fall, where he sported a fine 2.25 ERA. He's a former student at San Bernardino Valley Junior College in California.

NIESON, Charles Bassett "Chuck" Pitcher

Born September 24, 1942, in Hanford, California. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Richfield, Minnesota.

Described by Denver manager Cal Ermer as the best reliever in the Pacific Coast League over the last half of the 1965 season, Chuck Nieson is rated a strong bet to top a job on the Twins' relief staff for 1966. Married to a Twin Cities girl, the former Judith Ann Wydella, Chuck was employed last winter as a salesman in the sporting goods department of Target Stores, Inc. in Bloomington, Minnesota. He was signed to a large bonus contract for the Twins' organization by scout Dick Wieneck in 1962.

Born November 8, 1940, in Cleveland, Ohio. Height: 5 ft., 1 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Euclid, Ohio.

The 'handyman' of the 1965 Twins, Joe Nossek's aggressive play during the Twins' pennant-winning campaign was so impressive that by season's end he was starting regularly in centerfield against lefthand pitching. In fact, he was the starting middle gardener in five of the World Series games against the Los Angeles Dodgers. A bonus player, Nossek earned All-America baseball honors at Ohio University.

OLIVA, Pedro, Jr. "Tony" Outfielder

Born July 20, 1941, in Pinar del Rio, Cuba. Height: 5 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Single. Lives in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Largely unheralded in baseball circles following the 1965 season was the fact that Tony Oliva had accomplished a feat as rare and spectacular as the famed double no-hit performance of Cincinnati's Johnny Vander Meer in 1938. Never before in the history of the game has a player led a major league in batting in each of his first two seasons in the circuit. In fact, only one other rookie . . . Brooklyn's Pete Reiser in 1941 . . . had ever led either league in hitting, and Reiser had actually played 55 games for the Dodgers in the previous season. The last American leaguer to put back-to-back batting championships together was Boston's Ted Williams in 1957-58. Ty Cobb was the only American League player to win as many as three batting titles in a row. Honus Wagner, Rogers Hornsby and Stan Musial accomplished the feat in the National League. Musial winning his crowns in 1950-51-52. Making Tony's feat all the more spectacular is the fact that he played all of the 1965 season, and virtually all of 1964, with the middle finger of his right hand swollen to nearly double its normal size due to an overgrowth of bone . . . a condition which was corrected by surgery at the famed Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, last fall. Tony started slowly in '65, carrying a batting average of only .227 on the morning of May 25. From that point on, he batted at a .352 clip to overtake Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in the league batting race. He was named American League Player of the Year in The Sporting News' year-end poll.

OLLOM, Jimmy Donald "Jim" Pitcher

Born July 8, 1945, in Snohomish, Washington. Height: 6 ft., 4 in. Weight: 204 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Everett, Washington.

A 'sleeper' in the Twins' pitching ranks at Orlando, Florida, this spring could well be the gangling, young left-hander from the Pacific Northwest, Jim Ollom. Although his won-lost figures at Wilson last season were not impressive in themselves, Jim, nonetheless, was the boy tabbed to plug the gap for the Denver club when the Pacific Coast Leaguers found themselves in need of pitching help during the stretch drive in August. Ollom proved that the confidence in him was well-founded by turning in a sparkling 2.47 ERA in seven starts for the Bears. Last fall, he compiled a 5-3 record for Bradenton in the tough Florida Instructional League. Twins' pitching coach Johnny Sain is especially high on the youngster.

PASCUAL, Camilo Alberto, Jr. Pitcher

Born January 20, 1934, in Havana, Cuba. Height: 6 ft., 11 in. Weight: 185 ba. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Miami, Florida.

An unbelievably-fast recovery from a mid-summer operation has given rise to great optimism on the part of Twins' observers, and especially with Camilo Pascual himself, on the chances of the curving Cuban's rebounding to the 20-victory class in 1966. Camilo went under the knife to repair what was thought to be a tumor behind his right shoulder, but which, instead, turned out to be several torn muscles which had formed into a knot . . . a condition which had been building up for several years. The operation was performed on August 2, and the spunky right-hander was back on the mound on September 6! That was the first of six more starts during the regular season for Pascual, with his only decision being a victory. Only Warren Spahn, Robin Roberts, Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Whitey Ford, among the 1965-actives, have more career strikeouts than Pascual. Camilo is 23rd on the all-time strikeout tables, and passed Hose Radbourne, Jim Gaffney and Hal Newhouser in this respect during the past season.

PERRY, James Evan, Jr. "Jim" Pitcher

Born October 30, 1935, in Williamston, North Carolina. Height: 8 ft., 4 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats both, throws right. Married. Lives in Edina, Minnesota.

The value of that old adage about being ready when opportunity knocks was never more poignantly demonstrated than it was by Jim Perry last season. Called upon to fill a starting assignment made available because of Camilo Pascual's shoulder ailment, Perry, after nearly two years of bullpen duty, responded magnificently by fashioning a seven-hit shutout over the hard-hitting Boston Red Sox last July 5. From that time on, tall Jim was a regular member of manager Sam Mele's starting brigade, and is largely credited with being the sail that kept the Twins' ship from capsizing during their season-long pennant run. He compiled the finest earned-run average of his career in '65, the eighth best figure among the pitching qualifiers in the American League, and the top mark on the Twins' club. Jim's finest effort was a two-hit shutout over those same Red Sox at the Met on August 8, a game in which he failed to allow a hit until Felix Mantilla's two-out double in the seventh inning. A transplanted North Carolinian whose brother pitches for the San Francisco Giants, Jim is now a year-round Minnesotan employed as a sales representative of Robert Johnson Associates, Minneapolis.

PLEIS, William III "Sharty" Pitcher

Born August 5, 1938, in St. Louis, Missouri. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Kirkwood, Missouri.

The 'unsung hero' of the Twins' pitching staff might well be the stocky southpaw from St. Louis, Sharty Pleis. Relegated primarily to bullpen duty during his five seasons with the Twins, he's had just one losing season, and last year contributed four big wins and two 'saves' to the Twins' cause, while putting together the best earned-run average of his major league career.

QUILICI, Francis Ralph "Frank" Second Baseman

Born May 11, 1939, in Chicago, Illinois. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bloomington, Minnesota.

A 'sparkplug' type of player out of the Billy Martin mold, Frank Quilici fought his way into the Twins' regular lineup late last season and proved himself to be an important factor in the club's drive to the pennant and in their all-out battle in the World Series. In fact, he tied an all-time World Series record by getting two hits, a double and a single, in the third inning of the opening Series game. Equipped with an unbeatable disposition, Frank "wowed 'em" at all points with his great work at the microphone during the Twins' winter touring program, and also found time to make friends, and sales, as a member of the staff of Midway Ford, St. Paul. An All-American baseballer during his undergraduate days at Western Michigan University, Quilici also attended Loras College, in Dubuque, Iowa, for a time. Last winter, he was named Chicago 'Athlete of the Year' by the Chicago Park District, of whose program Frank is a graduate, edging Illinois fullback and Green Bay Packer bonus signer, Jim Grabowski, in the balloting.

Completely recovered from the arm miseries which waylaid him in 1961, Garry Roggenburk is expected to make a strong bid to regain his 1963 position of top left-hand fireman on the Twins' hurling staff. Dividing his time between Denver and the Twins last season, the former Dayton University basketball captain compiled impressive figures for both clubs.

ROLAND, James Ivan, Jr. "Jim" Pitcher

Born December 14, 1942, in Franklin, North Carolina. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Orlando, Florida.

A leg injury which caused him to miss more than a month's action, and a wristcrack which failed to show up on X-rays until after the season was over, combined to limit Jim Roland's action for Denver in the Pacific Coast League in 1963. The fireballing lefty did, however, manage to fashion a fine record with the Bears and thereby earn himself another shot at fulfilling his great promise with the Twins. Jim's wrist was encased in a cast most of the winter, but the medical diagnosis indicates that he should be ready to go with the first wave of athletes to hit the field at Orlando in spring training.

Born April 16, 1938, in Mt. Pleasant, Pennsylvania. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Burnsville, Minnesota.

Although finding himself pressed for his job for the first time since 1962, Rich Rollins goes into the 1966 season with unwavering optimism, an optimism based on the power of positive thinking. Copartner with teammate Bernie Allen in the Minnesota enfranchisement of the Napoleon Hill Academies, Rich has wholeheartedly adopted the will-to-win philosophy and principles expounded by the Napoleon Hill idea, and is confident of retaining his regular berth in the Twins' lineup, either at third or second base. Always in top physical condition, Rich is an outstanding all-round athlete, excelling in basketball, handball, table tennis, bowling, hunting and fishing, as well as baseball. He's a graduate of Kent State University, in Cleveland, Ohio.

SEVCIK, John Joseph Catcher

Born July 11, 1942, in Oak Park, Illinois. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 210 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bismarck, North Dakota.

A highly promising young catcher, too valuable to be farmed out and thus exposed to the baseball first-year draft in 1964, John Sevcik picked up valuable know-how as the Twins' third catcher during their pennant-winning season. Although his first-year status is now removed, John showed enough poise and moxie last season to indicate that he's going to make a strong fight for a Twins' catching berth again in '66. A University of Missouri grad, John's identical twin brother, Jim, an outfielder-third baseman, played for the Twins' Orlando, Florida State League farm last season.

A mainstay of Cal Ermer's strong pitching staff at Denver last season, Dwight Siebler also indicated in his two trips with the Twins during the campaign that he's now ready to lay claim to a permanent major league pitching berth. An industrious University of Nebraska graduate, who's associated with his father in the accounting business in the off-season, Dwight was a member of the Philadelphia organization until purchased by the Twins in 1965.

STIGMAN, Richard Lewis "Stig" Pitcher

Born January 24, 1936, in Nimrod, Minnesota. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 213 lbs. Bats right, throws left. Married. Lives in Burnsville, Minnesota.

Although he saw limited service in 1965, Dick Stigman looks large in the hopes of the Twins for '66. The tall southpaw is slated for either a return to a starting role, or for peonism work in a long relief capacity. The pipe-smoking native of the Minnesota north country has a 'great arm,' as witnessed by the impressive strikeout totals he's racked up throughout his professional career. In fact, since arriving in the majors with Cleveland in 1960, Stig has averaged 7.4 strikeouts per nine-inning game. A Twin Citizen year-round, Dick is employed as a special area representative of the Howard Johnson Motor Lodges.

TOVAR, Cesar Leonard "Pepito" Outfielder

Born July 3, 1940, in Caracas, Venezuela. Height: 5 ft., 9 in. Weight: 155 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Caracas.

A gifted offensive ballplayer, Cesar Tovar is slated to get a long look from Twins' manager Sam Mele in 1966 spring training, both at second base and in centerfield. Originally an infielder, Cesar has been used primarily in the outfield since breaking into the Triple-A ranks three seasons ago. Last season, after a spring trial with the Twins as an infielder, he wound up in centerfield for the Denver ballclub and compiled the third best batting average in the Pacific Coast loop. He maintained the pace in the winter months while playing in the Venezuelan League, where he battled Kansas City's Bert Campaneris and Cleveland's Vic Davalillo for the batting leadership of his hometown Caracas club. Extremely fast, Tovar stole 58 bases in 1961, while playing in the New York-Pennsylvania League.

UHLAENDER, Ted Otto Outfielder

Born October 25, 1939, in McAllen, Texas. Height: 8 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Married. Lives in McAllen.

The leading batter in the Pacific Coast League in 1965, Ted Uhlaender impressed all observers with his speed and on-base ability during his September trial with the Twins. Ted was slated for the Charlotte roster last spring until he convinced Denver manager Cal Ermer that he deserved a shot with his club. The opportunity was all Ted needed, as he proved by leading the Coast League and winding up with the Twins, with whom he's sure to receive ample opportunity to win an outfield job this spring. The Coast League batting title was Ted's second such crown, since he also led the New York-Pennsylvania League in his first full season, 1962. A Texan, Uhlaender was graduated from Baylor University in 1961, with a B.S.A. in Statistics. While at Baylor, he was a three-time All-Southwest Conference selection in baseball.

VALDESPINO, Hilario "Sandy" Outfielder

Born January 14, 1939, in San Jose de las Lajas, Havana, Cuba. Height: 5 ft., 8 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Miami, Florida.

Voted the outstanding rookie on the Twins by his teammates in 1965, Sandy Valdespino easily rates as one of the most pleasing additions the Twins have made to their squad in many years. Thoroughly likeable and extremely talented, Sandy made a score of valuable contributions to the team in their pennant drive, both with his consistent pinch-hitting efforts and with his fine outfield play. The International League's leading hitter in 1964, Sandy proved in '65, that he's a major league hitter, as well. Last winter, he sparked the Magallanes club into the playoffs of the Venezuelan League.

VERSALLES, Zolfo, Jr. "Zee" Shortstop

Born December 18, 1940, in Havana, Cuba. Height: 6 ft., 10 in. Weight: 160 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Bloomington, Minnesota.

A virtually unanimous choice as the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1965 . . . he received 19 out of a possible 20 first-place votes . . . Zolfo Versailles set the junior circuit on its collective ears during the season, not only by his outstanding defensive play, but also by grabbing the lion's share of the offensive honors, as well. He led the league in total bases, runs scored and at-bats, and tied for the top spot in doubles and triples. In addition, he established a Twins' club record in stolen bases, with 27. The personal pupil of coach Billy Martin during the season, Zolfo responded eagerly to Martin's counsel throughout the campaign, a fact which was clearly reflected in the wiry shortstop's brilliant play, and in the Twins' capturing of the American League flag. A two-time All-Star selection, Zolfo's American League opponents last year voted him the Gold Glove Award as the outstanding defensive shortstop in the circuit, the second time this accolade has come his way. Small but durable, Versailles has missed just ten Twins' games over the past four seasons.

WORTHINGTON, Allan Fulton "Al" Pitcher

Born February 5, 1929, in Birmingham, Alabama. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Birmingham.

The 'big' man of the Twins' bullpen crew, Al Worthington piled up a total of 24 relief points in 1965, based on his 10 wins and 14 saves, as he assumed stature as one of the really outstanding rescue artists in baseball. Only six American League hurlers and three in the National exceeded Al's total of relief points, an 1965-total but telling statistic. Went to the former Shirley Lee Reuss, of Dulak, Minnesota. Al holds a physical education degree from Howard College, in Birmingham, Alabama. A devoted family man and devout church worker, Al is a leading member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

ZIMMERMAN, Gerald Robert "Zim" Catcher

Born September 21, 1934, in Omaha, Nebraska. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Milwaukee, Oregon.

Only 31 years old, but a veteran of fourteen years of professional play, Jerry Zimmerman had probably the most satisfying season of his career in 1965, as his sharing of the catching chores with the often-injured Earl Battey helped keep the Twins on an even keel as they pursued their successful drive to the American League pennant.

CLARK, Ronald Bruce "Ron" Infielder

Born January 14, 1943, in Fort Worth, Texas. Height: 5 ft., 10 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Fort Worth.

A standout in the Southern League last season, Ron Clark was the leading hitter on the Twins' Florida Instructional League entry at Bradenton last fall with a .304-average. The league-leading defensive third baseman in the Southern circuit in '65, he was tried at second in the Instructional League, and his work was of such calibre that his Bradenton manager, Del Wilber, advised that Ron must definitely be considered in the fight for the Twins' 1966 second base job.

DAILEY, William Garland "Bill" Pitcher

Born May 13, 1935, in Arlington, Virginia. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Hopkins, Minnesota.

Sidelined during all of 1965, and virtually all of 1964, due to arm trouble, tall, side-winding Bill Dailey has been invited to the Twins' Tinker Field training camp in the hope that his enforced rest has allowed his ailing wing to regain its strength. A return to the fabulous form he displayed as a bullpen ace with the 1963 Twins would just about assure the Minnesotans of a World Series berth again in '66. How Twins' fans would love to strike up the refrain of 'Won't You Come In, Bill Dailey' once more! Bill was granted a leave of absence from his employer, the Theo. Hamm Brewing Company, of St. Paul, in order to take advantage of Twin president Calvin Griffith's offer of another opportunity with the ballclub. Dailey covers the Twin Cities as a sales representative of the brewery.

GREGSON, Donald Charles "Greg" Pitcher

Born July 20, 1942, in Los Angeles, California. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Crestline, California.

Author of the second best win-total for the strong Denver club last season, Don Gregson continues to improve rapidly in the ways of pitchingdom since his 1963 conversion from the infield. Tall, strong and willing, Greg is sure to receive a great deal of attention from the Twins' braintrust as he shoods for a major league job in '66.

LOWERY, David, Jr. "Dave" Pitcher

Born December 19, 1942, in Johannesburg, South Africa. Height: 6 ft., 5 in. Weight: 208 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Married. Lives in Johannesburg.

Possibly the first South African baseball star ever to receive a trial with a major league organization, Dave Lowery was invited to train with the Twins this spring by club president Calvin Griffith, after the boy's great potential was brought to the attention of Johnny Sain by a long-time friend of the Twins' pitching coach. Described by the South African newspaper Rand Daily Mail as a 'million-dollar baseball player by American standards. Lowery is easily the outstanding player of South African baseball. Last season, he was both the leading hitter and top pitcher in the Transvaal Baseball Association, South Africa's major league. In their twelve-game season, he batted .481, and copped 11 of his 12 decisions. In 1964, Dave had a 14-1 record, including a perfect game. Over the two seasons, he fanned 240 batters in 243 innings-pitched.

RATLIFF, Paul Hawthorne "Rat" Catcher

Born January 23, 1944, in San Diego, California. Height: 6 ft., 2 in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left, throws right. Single. Lives in Houston, Texas.

An outstanding season in the Florida Instructional League last fall, where he batted .281 for Bradenton, has Twins' farm system observers singing the praises of handsome Paul Ratliff, once again. Signed by scout Ed Stevens for a $38,000 bonus in 1962, and billed as a potentially outstanding hitter, the tall Texan had trouble getting untracked until he seemed to find himself in Instructional League play. Unquestionably the possessor of all the tools required to make the grade, Paul appears ready now to put all the parts together.

REESE, Richard Benjamin "Rich" First Baseman

Born September 29, 1942, in Lelaps, Ohio. Height: 6 ft., 3 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Married. Lives in Deshler, Ohio.

The top defensive first baseman in his league in each of his four seasons of professional baseball, Rich Reese also showed great potential as a hitter in his spring and fall trials with the Twins in 1965. A hustler who eats and sleeps baseball, Rich became personally acquainted with thousands of fans throughout the Upper Midwest by serving as a member of the Twins' touring public relations crew last winter.

THEOBALD, Ronald Merrill "Ron" Second Baseman

Born July 28, 1943, in Oakland, California. Height: 5 ft., 8 in. Weight: 165 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Richmond, California.

A 'great pair of hands' is a phrase always used in any description of the talent of Ron Theobald. A fine, all-round ballplayer just two years off the University of Arizona campus, Ron's quickness with his hands in getting rid of a ground ball or in making the doubleplay pivot is truly a work of art. Very much in the fight for the Twins' second base job even though he has just two professional seasons under his belt, Ron was given an advance 'look' at the major leagues last June when he was called in from Charlotte to perform at second base for the Minnesotans in their exhibition against Milwaukee at Atlanta, Georgia.

WHITBY, William Edward "Billy" Pitcher

Born July 29, 1943, in Crewe, Virginia. Height: 6 ft., 1 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Single. Lives in Victoria, Virginia.

A strong-armed righthander, Bill Whitby electrified the Southern League on July 11, 1965, by becoming the first hurler in the loop's two-year history to hurl a nine-inning, no-hit game, as he downed Asheville, 5-0. Overall, he placed third in the league's ERA-derby in the season's final figures. A Twin briefly in 1964, Bill is a strong contender for a return to major league flannels in 1966.

TWINS' MEDICAL STAFF

GEORGE (DOC) LENTZ is in his twentieth season as the team's trainer. A native of Williamsport, Pa., he has trained teams at Dickinson Seminary and Catholic and George Washington Universities. For ten years, he also taught classes for trainers at George Washington. In fact, he still maintains his associate professorship there. He also served as head trainer of the Washington Redskins of the National Football League for 14 years, concluding with the 1961 season. His patented protective helmet is used by most major league teams.

DR. WILLIAM E. PROFFITT, JR., took over as Twins' club physician after four years in the same position with the now defunct Minneapolis Millers of the American Association. Born in Denville, Ill., schooled in Buffalo, N. Y., and graduated from the University of Minnesota. Dr. Proffitt played halfback for the Gophers in 1932, '33 and '34, the latter a national championship year. Dr. Proffitt also lettered in track and was the University's heavy-weight boxing champion in 1934 and '35. An active swimmer, water skier and golfer, Dr. Proffitt, who resides in Hopkins, Minn., is married and has a son and daughter.
